Why do we need your help?
Making life better for children is our mission.

Meet Kristin, a patient at Children's HealthSM

When Kristin was only 3-months-old, doctors shared the shocking news with her parents that she would need a liver transplant. Her chances for survival were slim, and surgery was performed as a temporary fix. Almost two years later, Kristin's family received a call that a liver was available, and it was a "perfect" fit. The surgeon assured her parents that Kristin was in the best hands possible at Children's Health. "He was the most optimistic guy," her mom said. "He took the time to calm me down and explain why we had to do this. He convinced me. He said, 'This is it.'" And it was. Now 10 years old and in the fifth grade, Kristin is fully enjoying her childhood and able to live her life without any restrictions.

Many children like Kristin fight serious illness or injuries at Children's Health every day. When you choose Children's with your support, you are saying "your fight matters to me" and helping us provide the very best care for every child who counts on us.

About Children's Health

Children's Health has nearly one million patient encounters each year.

No child is turned away regardless of the family's ability to pay.

Children are given birthday parties, can visit an in-house radio studio and have fun with animals, to make their time in the hospital easier.
